CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN

Member of Congress
The Flannagan Bill, strengthening the Selective Training and Service Act to make mandatory the deferment of essential farm workers without consideration of the needs of the armed forces, which was approved by the House several weeks ago, passed the Senate last week and has been sent to the President for his signature. The legislation was made necessary by the unexpected action of the President and Director of Selective Service last January in placing a new interpretation upon the Tydings amendment that local draft boards should decide whether each individual registrant was needed most on the farm or in the armed services. During the prior two and one-half years the Tydings Amendment had been in effect no one had questioned but it meant exactly as it read—that registrants found to be essential to farm production should be deferred until and unless a proper replacement was first found. So Congress has had to pass a new law to compel obedience to a law already in effect. However, thousands of essential farm workers were inducted into the armed forces before the new law could be passed, and as a result food production has suffered.

The Congress has also passed and sent to the President a bill extending the selective Service one year—from May 15th next. The bill adds an important amendment to the selective Service Act—one which will prohibit the sending of any eighteen year old boy into battle until he has had at least six months combat training. The amendment was bitterly opposed by the War Department and high military officials. However, too many national legislators remembered the assurances which had been given the Congress and the people by War Department spokesmen, at the time the original legislation was pending to lower the draft age limit to eighteen, that youngsters under nineteen would not be sent into combat—only to later see thousands of eighteen year olds, with seventeen weeks, or less, of training sent into the front lines and quickly become casualties. In this connection it may be of interest to know Great Britain permits no boy to be sent on to the front for military duty until he is eighteen years and six months old; while Canada and Australia keep them at home until they are nineteen, and New Zealand until they are twenty-one. Russia's minimum age limit for conscription is nineteen. It should also be noted that effective May 1st, Great Britain will stop the conscription of men over the thirty-one years of age. The War Department last week announced that enlisted men forty-two years of age, or older, will be granted discharges from service upon application. Approximately fifty thousand men will be affected by this order. Those overseas will be sent home for discharge. The only exceptions to the order are those in need of further medical treatment, or who are undergoing discipline.

V-E Day in Europe will bring many changes in Army procurement and in governmental controls. Already the War Department has announced a heavy cut in bomber plane production, and in orders for heavy artillery, shells and tanks. Overall war production is expected to be cut at least fifteen percent immediately after V-E Day, and from thirty to fifty percent within less than six months thereafter. Mobilizer Vinson has advised Congress reversion on a "limited scale" will begin very shortly after the end of hostilities in Europe, while War Production Board Chairman Krug advised the House Committee that the WPB's present four hundred production controls will be entirely removed within the next few months. Army appropriations and expenditures for the next fiscal year are to be reduced by many billions of dollars. President Truman is said to favor reversion to peace-time production as rapidly as was conditions will possibly permit. Already automobile manufacturers have been authorized to install fifty million dollars worth of new machinery in preparation for turning out passenger cars and trucks for civilian use.

In anticipation of near victory in Europe many war supplies scheduled for delivery to that theater of war are rerouted to the Pacific or held in the United States. Few replacement troops are now being sent across the Atlantic. According to plans, once the war in Europe ends, men between

Mrs. Mary Evelyn Thorsen Shaw, 27, R. R. 2, met instant death about 1:45 A. M., Thursday morning, when the car she was driving sideswiped with a truck about a mile west of this place on Route 42. Mrs. Shaw was returning home and the truck owned by a Cleveland firm, was headed toward Xenia. Sam Bismark, Cleveland, was the driver of the truck. The automobile was a total wreck, the top being folded back over the rear seat. It is said the front axle of the large transport truck was damaged by the impact.

Montoya received a cut on the head while the others were not injured to any extent. Mrs. Shaw suffered a fractured skull and fractured left arm with possible internal injuries. POULTRYMEN SUPPORT EGG AUCTION

Forty Greene County poultrymen with a total of more than 11,000 laying hens have applied for membership in the Ohio Valley Egg Cooperative which will open at Milford, O. Truck routes will be established to pick up eggs at the farms of the members.

The association has purchased the old car barn, one mile east of Milford on U. S. Highway 50. Plans are now being drawn to convert the building into a modern egg handling station. It will house the latest egg candling and sizing equipment, refrigerated, and humidifier holding rooms to maintain egg quality at the peak. The building will provide facilities to handle from 150 to 200 thousand cases of eggs a year.

GOOO WHEAT CROP PROSPECTS

Wheat survived the winter in excellent condition; spring growth started early; and present prospects for the crop are good. The moderately severe frosts killed back leaf tips and resulted in yellowing of the leaves. Leaching by heavy rains also removed available nitrogen and this intensified the yellowing in some cases.

However, hazards still remain. A prolonged dry period might damage or wet humid weather would favor diseases and lodging. Farmers are much concerned about the excessive growth, because of possible danger from lodging and the smothering of young grass seedlings. Many have pastured or clipped the crop to retard its growth.

SOYBEAN SUPPORT PRICE SET

The War Food Administration announces a support price of $2.04 a bushel on 1945 green or yellow soybeans which grade U. S. No. 2 and have a moisture content of 14 percent. Premiums will be paid for beans testing higher and deductions made for lower testing beans. This base support price is the same as the prevailing last year, and will be paid for beans delivered to any normal marketing point.

PLOW DOWN NITROGEN FOR CORN

Each bushel of corn requires one and one-half pounds of nitrogen and this element is more often than any other the factor which limits corn yields. The premature dying of the lower leaves of corn, commonly called "firing" is caused by lack of sufficient nitrogen.

Nitrogen shortage is most apt to be encountered on fields where corn stalks, straw, grass sods, and soybean straw are plowed down for corn. It is recommended that 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre (equal to 200 pound of sulfate of ammonia or cyanamid) be plowed down with the above mentioned low nitrogen materials. Under such conditions it is reasonable to expect corn yields to be increased one bushel for each two pounds of nitrogen applied.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING SIGN UP UNDERWAY

More than 1000 cows have been signed up for the artificial breeding unit in Greene County according to Earl Ritenour, chairman of the county committee sponsoring the service. The county goal is 1500 cows and this number must be secured before the breeding service will be available.

Interested farmers are urged by Mr. Ritenour to contact their township chairman and sign the membership agreement. Township chairmen are David Kinsol, Bath; Elmer Wolf, Beavercreek; Warren Mason, Caesar Creek; Lewis Lillich, Cedarville; Wayne Turner, Jefferson; John Stover, Miami; Fred Williamson, New Jasper; Earl Ritenour, Ross; Carl Pickering, Silvercreek; Ray Krug, Spring Valley; Joe White Jr., Sugarcreek; Raymond Wolf, Xenia.

Bishop Ransom Hits At Pres. Wealey Over Wilberforce U

Bishop R. C. Ransom, Wilberforce, chairman of the board of trustees of Wilberforce University, charges that President Dr. Charles E. Wealey, is now linked with the new movement for state legislation to break A. M. E. Church control over the institution.

Sen. Theo. M. Gray, Piquette, has introduced a bill to hold only members of the university board named by the state responsible for electing or removing a president of the school.

Several years ago when the late R. D. Williamson was chairman of the House Finance Committee, a bill was passed requiring all expenditures to be approved by the joint board and also by the State Board of Control. This removed the possibility of continued charges by board members being made as to who would control the university funds. The state provides part of the school income.

Senator Gray answers Bishop Ransom this week and claims the bill was to correct a condition that was brot about when the North Central Association disapproved of "joint board" management in the selection of a president or other administrative officer. The N. C. A. threatens to remove the university from the accredited list if the two boards are not separated.

The regular meeting of the Greene County Fish and Game Association will be held at the club house, Tuesday, May 8 at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served and a sound film on Conservation of our forests will be shown.

More Towels Needed At Canteen At Once

Mrs. W. G. Holt, Xenia, Chairman of the Camp and Hospital Commission is making a special appeal to the people of this community.

The new canteen at the Patterson Field, Flight Line is in fine working order and is a boon to the boys, passing through Dayton on Emergency Furloughs; but one thing is lacking and that is bath towels. There are dormitories and showers, which are most welcome to the travel-weary service men, but since these men are not equipped with towels, and since they are impossible to purchase in large quantities, it's up to the housewives of Greene County to contribute to our boys, this necessary item.

Take one of your towels, give as many as you can spare to: Mrs. Harold Reinhardt, Cedar st., or to Red Cross Headquarters, W. Second st., Xenia, today, and bring comfort to that boy who is on his way to unknown areas.

Tyson Lake Stocked With Fish Friday

Fishing or trespassing on the Old Quarry property is forbidden.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

MRS. REBECCA TOWNLEY

Once more the R. Y. N. Club has been called upon to give up one of its charter members, in the passing of Mrs. Rebecca Townley. She had been in failing health for several years, yet she was on doing her share of life's work, keeping up her home until a few weeks before death.

Mrs. Townley had a fine spirit of neighborliness and was ever willing to share anything she had. We appreciate the years of friendship we have enjoyed with her. Our lives have been enriched and made fuller by having known her.

We think of her association with us, of her regular attendance at all our club meetings, and the help she was permitted to give us in our inspiration to us all.

It was a pleasure to work with her because we needed her question: her motive, now wonder what she meant by any statement made.

She was much interested in her church and all of its activities and was happy to attend the service.

The community was deeply saddened by her going, and shall miss her greatly, but believe, as Kipling says, "The Master of All Good Workmen will put her to work again." Her passing has cast a shadow over one club, which is keenly felt by all, but yet the influence of her life remains. Her life was rich.

All the vase in which roses have been distilled.

You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will.

But the scent of the roses hangs round still.

And all friends, our sincere sympathy, and commend them to the loving care of our Good Shepherd, Christ Jesus.

Following the prelude, Miss Joan Ferguson, pianist; Kenneth Dailey will lead in prayer and Mrs. Casper Dailey will read a solo. Topics for discussion will be vacation day by Miss Joan Ferguson; what the civilians and service men are thinking about; William Ferguson; what our congregation should do about it; Charlotte Collins; and preparing for tomorrow, Catherine Ferguson. A special address will be given by Dr. Bickett on the great need for spiritual leaders. A large attendance is expected at this service.

SURFACE WATER IN WELLS

A special joint meeting of the village council and Board of Public Affairs was held Friday evening, to consider a report from the State Board of Health, advising that the water was unsafe for domestic use. The report also recommended the purchase and installation of a hypochlorinator.

The samples of water were taken April 20. At this time no report has been received on the second examination. Neither council or Board of Public Affairs have seen the analysis, or had not at the Friday evening session showing just how the water was April 26 but other samples were sent unsafe.

Co-incident with the report, a representative of a firm manufacturing the state recommended mechanism, was present and discussed the situation with local officials. The cost is $225 which includes the installation.

In as much as water is taken from three different wells no samples of the individual wells were taken but from a line with all three pumps going.

Had the officials a report showing which well was producing impure water, some action might be taken to check local conditions.

The general belief is that the situation is only temporary. Back in April during the heavy rain storm, the largest part of the waterworks grounds were flooded several inches deep with surface water that came from out of the village. The natural drainage for that section is by a county ditch that crosses Main street at the Creswell elevator and following the railroad to the Tyson (lime kilns) property and crosses the street west of the paper mill. This ditch is badly in need of cleaning so that water could get away faster. Conditions in this ditch helped back water upon the waterworks land until all wells were more or less surrounded with flood water. In addition most of the cellar on S. Main, south of the railroad were soon converted into cisterns and furnace fires were put out for several days.

This is not the first time this condition has happened as several years ago following a small cold burst water surrounded the wells and at that time got into well No. 2. It was cut off from the main line and pumped for a day or so until the water was found to be safe. It was recommended at that time that an earthen embankment around the wells and pump house to keep surface water away, but the suggestion was dropped. Had it been followed there would have been no surface water in any of the wells at this time.

It is well to protect the public and use proper means to insure pure water. The Board of Public Affairs has purchased the hypochlorinator which will be installed within two weeks. Meantime the public has been urged to boil drinking water.

In the use of chlorine to purify the water, the public can expect to have the taste of the water changed somewhat. While it is unusually hard now, while the water is unusually hard now, and has been coming from limestone rock; it will be harder than ever when chlorine is used, requiring more soap than ever for laundry purposes.

NEW HARDWARE STORE TO OPEN SATURDAY

Mr. C. G. Duvall will open his new hardware store to the public Saturday morning. The public will find one of the most modern hardware stores to be found in the state for a town of this size. The entire stock is new and well displayed by the latest in hardware fixtures. The arrangement keeps the stock in public view. As for hardware one and all will admit the stock to be as complete or more so than would be expected under war-time conditions. You will find many hard to get items.

The store is located in the Nagley building which has been redecorated and equipped with a modern electric lighting system. A stairway has been installed for access to the second floor where surplus stock is stored and the numerous items not found on the first floor. The exterior of the building has been redecorated from the Wagner grocery around to the end of the building on Xenia ave.

Mr. Duvall comes here from Lynchburg, O., and has purchased a home on Xenia ave. He has invited the buying public to visit the new store Saturday when something special for women will be featured.
